Managed forests are used to produce sustainable resources like timber for construction, furniture, and paper products. In the UK, the government set up habitat protection areas to conserve, and set up quotas in order to protect the area.
Describe the process of primary succession.
Explain the reasons on why biodiversity increases during successions.
Using the information above, explain how managed forest can balance human dema with the need for conservation and why we should conserve different areas.	mand
	[9 QER]